- The journey should around approximately 10 hrs. It is indeed a little strenuous yet stunning scenic mountain drive. The entire journey traverses the mountainside, with the river flowing below you. (You are lucky to be a spectator of the confluence of the Alaknanda and Bhagirathi rivers at Devprayag)
- We'll reach Joshimath by the evening (around 5 pm) where you will be served evening tea followed by a short briefing about the trek.
- Take rest and later have your dinner.
- Overnight stay in a homestay in Joshimath.

Day 04 : Joshimath to Dhak (by car) and trek to Tali (3362 M)

- After breakfast around 7:30 AM, we head to Dhak Village to start our trek. Keep a jacket handy, you may need it along the way, but if the sun is up, you can easily trek in a t-shirt and a fleece. You'll walk through the dusty trails up to Tugashi village, which will be your first water source.
- It's a charming little village, where you'll get a glimpse of the traditional way of life of the locals. As you move further up from Tugashi village, the terrain changes and you'll find yourself walking in and out a beautiful oak forest. The forest opens up to a clearing or a meadow every now and then. You'll have your lunch at Gulling around 1 pm, rest up here but gear up for the final ascend to the Tali Campsite from here.
- It's not a steep ascend, but for the next 4KMs, you'll be walking uphill. Tali campsite is right in the middle of the forest, and you'll be delighted to be there because you'll have a team waiting with hot beverages and snacks for you.

Day 05 : Trek From Gulling Top to Tali Forest Camp

- 5.5 km, which is approximately 5 hours
- A hike will take you up the steep climb through rhododendron, oak (mostly white and pink) and walnut forests.
- You'll be amazed when you experience the stunning beauty of this dark forest and nature trails
- Take advantage of the delicious lunch served on the campsite.
- At the peak of winter's beauty it is possible to find every aspect of the forest covered with snow. In the snow that is thickening with its light, shade, and of the coniferous forests of Gulling the second camp during your trek is set up.
- Along this route the Hathi-Ghori peaks are expected to be bursting forth in splendor, along with Dronagiri which is now a little towards the right.
- Staying in tents for the night.

Day 06 : Via Khullara top Trek From Tali forest camp to Kuari pass and back

- Around 7-10 km Trek 5- 6 hrs
- Enjoy a delicious breakfast before you head out on the trail.
- The first half of the climb is an ascent of a mountain while the second half is an ascent that is gradual.
- The wide meadows that have the golden to bright green grass covering during summer. They transform into rolling snowfields during the winter.
- Journey towards the Khullar summit to the bridge that is broken with a frozen stream (12,200 feet)
- From the bridge that is broken, you'll be heading towards Kuari pass. Kuari passing (Strenuous ascent) (12,500 feet)
- It is recommended to carry sufficient water since there is no water source along the route.
- Be sure to tighten your shoes in a proper manner. Trekking the Himalayas will give you with high-quality crampons However, you are required not to carry the gaiters you own. Gaiters can be purchased from the local market in Joshimat for a reasonable cost.
- The summit of this trek is an explosion of images that reveal many Garhwal gigantic peaks. You can get view of Kalanka, Balakun, Hathi Parvat, Mana I, Ghorī Parvat, Nanda Ghunti, Abhi Gamin, Neel Kantha, Mukut Parvat, Kamet, Chaukhambha, Kedarnath Peak Kedardome, Dronagiri, Changabang, Nanda Devi,
